

Edwin Gibbon, Sec. Man, Dies Suddenly

Edwin Gibbon, age 62, a Michigan Central employee on the road division for over forty years, passed away at his home suddenly Monday shortly after noon. Mr. Gibbon, not feeling well, had stayed in bed Monday morning and was just about to sit up to eat his noonday meal when he passed away. Although he had been in ill health and suffered a slight paralytic stroke over a year ago, he still continued at his work as section foreman for the Michigan Central and had worked up to Saturday night.

Mr. Gibbon was born April 27, 1876 on a farm in Arenac county, and his entire life was spent in northern Michigan. From the time he was old enough to work he was employed for the railroad. His first job was as section foreman at West Branch, where he worked until 1917, when he was promoted as assistant to J. E. Crowley, roadmaster of the Northern Division. He came to Grayling in 1919 from Wolverine and held this position until 1931, when the railroad began reducing their forces, and he was made section foreman again.

Mr. Gibbon was united in marriage to Anna Knight in 1899 in Arenac county, and Mrs. Gibbon passed away April 22, 1912, and four children were left, all of whom survive. Mrs. Walter Wagner, Capac, Mich.; Mrs. Rev. E. Butler, Detroit; Rev. E. Gibbon, Madison, O.; and Merle Gibbon, Painesville, O. Also there are five sisters and one brother, Mrs. Orson West, Mrs. Grace Longbotham, Flint; Mrs. Burt Hart, Avoca, Mich.; Mrs. Lizzie Johnson, Burt Gibbon, Standish; Mrs. Hattie Schram, Omer, and there also are nine grandchildren. Mrs. Schram was unable to be in attendance at the funeral because of illness.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Grayling Funeral Home, Rev. H. W. Kuhlman of Michelson Memorial church officiating. The remains were taken to Sterling for interment accompanied by relatives and many friends, and among those in attendance was J. E. Crowley of Cheboygan.

Pallbearers were John Brady, James Reynolds, Daniel Hoesli, Ted and Bernard Callahan and Earl Broadbent.

Mr. Gibbon had many fine qualities that made him a favorite among young and old. He was very charitable and helped in many a worthy cause. He will be missed by his family and hosts of friends.

Busy Session of Izaak Walton League

The September monthly meeting of the Rube Babbitt Chapter was held in the court house Thursday evening, Sept. 15th and was well attended. Matters of considerable interest were discussed at this meeting with definite action being taken in some cases.

One communication read at the meeting called the Chapter's attention to the killing of game by young boys who have been issued permits to carry 22 caliber rifles in the woods. Action on this matter being that the Chapter would invite Grayling boys to their meetings and endeavor to make them see the folly of killing game in violation of the law, as such practices if continued, will result in the boys being unable to secure permits in the future.

The Chapter discussed the matter of turning over sponsorship of the Annual Canoe Carnival as well as the Golden Gloves contest to the Chamber of Commerce as their part in concentrating all civic activities in one organization. The decision being favorable to this action, contingent upon all civic activities being handled by the Chamber of Commerce.

A report was submitted to the effect that sewage was being emptied into Lake Margrethe from the Michigan Guard Camp grounds, the idea being suggested that the septic tanks installed were not of a capacity to take care of the sewage during encampment. This matter to be taken up with National Guard officials to determine the facts. Also a request was made for an analysis of the waste being discharged from our local disposal plant into the AuSable River to determine if such waste is safe to dump in the river.

After considerable discussion, a resolution was offered by George Burke, requesting the Conservation Department to increase deer licenses 25c with the additional funds so raised being earmarked for feeding of deer in severe winter weather in such areas known to be over-browsed. This resolution acted on favorably, with copies going to State Headquarters of the Izaak Walton

Autumn Points the Forest

Autumn's official arrival September 23 has already been forecast in the northern woods where Jack Frost's paint brushes have tipped the leaves with brilliant browns, reds and yellows. While men of the northern hemisphere prepare for the winter to come, September 23 marks the arrival of spring in the southern hemisphere.

League and the Department of Conservation.

In answer to a letter of inquiry from the Senate Investigating Committee on Aquatic Life, the Chapter requested some definite action be taken to eliminate fish ducks on our trout streams during all months of the year.

It was decided to put on another Boxing Tournament under Michigan A.A.U. sanction Friday night, Nov. 18, 1938. This being put on that date for the benefit and entertainment of the deer hunters who will be in and around Grayling at that time.

The October meeting date will be announced later and it was decided to have entertainment and refreshments at that meeting, with ladies invited.

MRS. PETERSEN FUNERAL THURSDAY

Annual Meeting Chamber of Commerce

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held in the Court house Tuesday evening, September 20th and the meeting was well attended. Following reading of the minutes and financial report, President R. A. Wright gave a report of the work and activities of the organization for the past year. This report showed that over 8000 people stopped at our information booth and approximately 1500 letters were received and answered during the year. Tourists stopping at the booth were furnished with what information was desired and Grayling literature passed out in all cases. Many people were directed to summer camps, lake camps, cottages, tourist cabins and tourist homes.

During the year the Chamber of Commerce were successful in bringing the Gulf Refining crew to Grayling; the annual convention of the Audobon Society and Boy Scouts from Ohio who were encamped at Kile Lake. Also the arrangements for the W.P.A. Guide School were handled by this organization.

President R. A. Wright in leaving office recommended various things for the consideration of the organization the coming year. He advocated incorporating the Chamber of Commerce into a non-profit organization and that all civic projects in the future be taken over and handled by the Chamber of Commerce, namely the Annual Canoe Carnival, the Golden Gloves tournament, and Winter Sports.

To eliminate the time and effort required of our various citizens in behalf of these projects, he advised that a full year-around secretary be hired to take care of this work and advanced various plans as to how such a secretary and the expenses of the Chamber of Commerce could be met.

Under the statutes of the State of Michigan, the City Council in any incorporated city or village may levy up to four mills on the assessed valuation for the purpose of raising money for advertising, promoting of recreational and other things for purpose of increasing the flow of trade to the community. A fund so raised, together with Chamber of Commerce memberships sold to the business men in this community, would practically finance a sound program.

Mr. Wright also advocated for the future, that the Chamber of Commerce consider the awarding of a medal or token to the most useful and outstanding citizen in Grayling each year, who has done the most for the benefit of the community. In making this recommendation, he advised that such a suggestion was not to be considered for the past year while he was President of the organization.

Twenty-three nominations were made for Directors for the ensuing year, of which eight are to be elected. The Secretary will mail the ballots to each member by mail and they are to be voted and returned to Farnum Matson. The eight directors so elected will meet and elect the officers of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year.

Before adjournment Mr. Wright was given a rising vote of thanks for his efforts in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce for the past year.

The Michigan Mirror

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association
By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—As a demonstration of independence in Michigan journalism, a group of newspaper publishers are tendering a testimonial luncheon here this Friday (Sept. 23) in honor of Governor Frank Murphy and members of the state administrative board.

In a state where the press has been traditionally Republican, this is news.

The sponsoring publishers, in an invitation issued by Scarth Inglis, a country weekly owner at Galesburg, pledge to keep their news columns "fair, factual and just to all political parties."

As Editor Inglis explains, "We firmly believe that more and more Michigan newspapers are independent in politics and that during campaigns take precautions to assure presentation of news without color and a fair hearing of both sides of public issues."

Journalism of this kind sounds like the Golden Rule. Certainly, it puts both Democrat and Republican newspaper editors "on the spot" to provide unbiased news in the news columns, while reserving editorial column for their own personal comment. Nobody can kick about that!

Second Highest

The federal government's newest venture into regulation of industry—fixing a ceiling for hours and a floor for wages—goes into effect next month.

Michigan industries will be unaffected, for the large part, by the 1938 minimum of less than $600 annual wage per worker or the ultimate wage minimum of $832.

A comprehensive study of the National Resources Committee, using 300,000 families as a selected sample, rated Michigan family incomes as second highest in groups of states. Disregarding Michigan families on relief, the average family income for the 1935-36 fiscal year was $1,140. Including those on relief, the average remained at $1,260.

National figures showed that one third of all American families have incomes of less than $730; nine-tenths received less than $2,500.

As far as automobile workers are concerned, they rate at the top nationally. General Motors employees earned an average income in 1937 of $1,618 for 46 weeks or more—and that, despite the sit-down strikes!

Michigan is a beehive for industry—Kalamazoo the paper capital, Battle Creek the food capital, Detroit the automobile capital, Grand Rapids the furniture capital, and so on.

The present wage-hour scale may hamper the South's industrial development but certainly it will not handicap Michigan. The trouble lies in future tinkering of wage-hours by vote-seeking politicians, for such has been the history of governmental regulations of private business.

COUPLE MARRIED IN TOLEDO

Mrs. Ethel Griffith and Mr. Edmund F. Cooper were united in marriage Friday, September 16, in Toledo, O. They were accompanied by the former's daughter Mrs. Sam Gust, and son-in-law Edward E. Gyde of Higgins Lake, who were the witnesses. Rev. F. W. Fessenden of St. Paul's M. E. church performed the ceremony.

Mr. Cooper has been caretaker at Birchwood Lodge for several years, and the couple will make their home there during the resort season, and will be in town during the winter. Congratulations and best wishes of many friends are extended.

Mackinac Span
The Straits of Mackinac bridge idea received a temporary setback by President Roosevelt's decision not to dedicate the Port Huron-Sarnia "Blue Waters Bridge" this fall.

The Roosevelt "purge" in Maryland was launched by an announcement at Morgantown of $3,000,000 federal funds for a Potomac bridge. On the Saturday preceding the primary, Secretary Harold L. Ickes released a decision to build a bridge at Havre de Grace, Tydings' home town.

Several months ago Governor Murphy intimated, upon returning from one of his frequent trips to Washington, that federal funds for the Mackinac Straits bridge was practically assured as President Roosevelt was "enthusiastic" about it. The Michigan span would cost in the neighborhood of $30,000,000.

When the President decided against coming to Port Huron, Governor Murphy explained it as being "a state highway department party." It is worth noting that the chairman of the Straits of Mackinac bridge authority is G. Donald Kennedy, deputy to Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner.

The Murphy-Van Wagoner "feud" (quietly set aside until November 8) is not going to help the Mackinac bridge movement any.

Civil Service

Determination of Democrat legislators to revise the civil service law is seen in the appointment of House Speaker George Schroeder of a bi-partisan committee.

State institutions face critical personnel trouble, because civil service examinations disqualified men and women employees who have held their jobs successfully through several administrations.

It was this apparent inconsistency in the law that prompted Speaker Schroeder to seek legislative remedies. (Regardless of the November 8 outcome, Michigan will have a civil service law, Republican Nominee Fitzgerald has praised Harold Brownrigg and takes part credit for sponsorship of the idea).

Fireworks

While campaign oratory is temporarily in recess, State Fire Marshal E. J. Burrill announces that the 1939 legislature will be asked to require a state permit for sale of fireworks. Holders of such a permit would be compelled to post a $500 bond to cover any damages.

The measure will have the support of Parent-Teacher associations and woman's organizations in general.

With the legislative session less than four months away, now is the time to mobilize public opinion which forms slowly at the very best. We predict a good chance for Marshal Burrill's bill.

MR. AND MRS. H. W. WOLFF GIVE A BREAKFAST

Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Hanson were honor guests at a breakfast given by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wolff at their summer home at Lake Margrethe Wednesday morning.

The affair was given to celebrate the twenty-eighth wedding anniversary of the Hansons.

The table was covered with a cream colored cloth and the decorations were a beautiful combination of leaves and flowers. Two miniature deer gave a woody appearance to the table setting.

Guests included the Hanson families.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

(Editorial by Verne J. Brown in the Ingham County News, Mason, Mich.)

Commenting on world issues is rightly regarded as being beyond the province of a small town newspaper yet there are angles regarding the present European crisis that should be apparent to people residing even in the most provincial communities.

Czechoslovakia is credited to Woodrow Wilson and other map-makers of the World War period. And it takes more than maps to make a nation. Slovakia and Ruthenia, containing 700,000 Hungarians, were part of Hungary for 1000 years. There are three and one-quarter million Germans who live near the 900-mile frontier that separates Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia from their former Fatherlands of Germany and Austria. The rest of the population of 15,000,000 residing in the country no bigger than the state of Illinois are Czechs, Poles, Jews and Gypsies.

Woodrow Wilson and others at the peace table set the stage for Hitler when they carved great slices from Germany and Austria and gave the land with their blessings to a new nation. Czechoslovakia is a country of many tongues, various cultures and customs and flaming racial animosities.

The Sudeten Germans have been denied many citizenship rights. That much has been admitted by the present government. So the Sudetens have been attentive to Hitler and his promises.

The United States had a hand in making Czechoslovakia. That was 20 years ago and to us it seems that we have had ample opportunity in those 20 years to see what a mess was made by our European adventure. Our war allies played us for suckers. We went to their rescue when they had their backs to the wall and the thanks we received was a general welshing on war debts. The wealth of the United States was poured out in Europe, and it will not be returned. England, France, Italy and other European nations likely never intend to pay back the money we advanced. We were suckers once. Why should we fall into the same trap 20 years later?

Yet the United States is being jockeyed into a position similar to that of 1917. Our ambassadors are talking of hands across the sea, making the world safe for democracy, the sisterhood of the United States, England and France, and the rest of the crop of coined phrases which blossomed in 1916 and 1917. Our ambassadors to England, France and Germany should be told to keep still or be returned to the United States. If the Sudeten Germans want to flirt with Hitler that's their own affair. If minorities in European countries are being suppressed that's to be deplored but the suppressing of minorities is not a condition that exists only in Europe.

The United States is part of the New World. Our forefathers came here to escape the machinations of European intrigue. That we slaughtered American Indians and stole their lands, that we enslaved African freemen, that we wrested California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas from another nation and that in 1898 we were not above grabbing land from Spain does not place us in quite the right position to tell Hitler or Mussolini what to do. We should ship our wheat and cotton to Europe but keep our meddling statesmen home. If we keep our statesmen home we won't be tricked into sending another army and billions of dollars to Europe.

School Notes (23 Years Ago)

Wayne Thompson entered the high school Monday.

Tuesday afternoon all the classes in high school organized for the school year. The seniors elected Laura Nielsen president, Helen Bingham secretary, and Roy Milnes, treasurer. The juniors elected Carlton Melstrup, Axel Peterson, Mildred Corwin and Frank Shanahan, president, vice president, secretary and treasurer respectively. The sophomores chose Roy Case for president, Herman Sorenson vice president, Fern Armstrong secretary, and Mary Cassidy treasurer. The freshmen elected Virginia Bingham, Erdine McNeven, Percy Failing and Lucille McPhee for the same respective offices. Percy Failing was the only boy of his class who attended the class meeting.

BUCK DEER DRESSING FOR MATING SEASON

Mr. Buck Deer has begun to dress up for the mating season. His antlers are now about fully developed, in the velvet and hard. Soon they will begin to shed the velvet as the skin dies, and Mr. Buck will be busy rubbing against trees during the next few weeks to give his antlers the high polish hunters see during the hunting season.

In the majority of cases, the buck deer's antlers are hardened by the first part of September and have lost their velvet by the end of September, although a few may go through change more slowly than do the most.

One theory regarding the shedding of the velvet skin from the antlers is that the rubbing process, in which the deer engages is induced by an itching which occurs as the skin dies. The rubbing is believed to help speed the shedding and at the same time "dress up" the antlers which give the buck added magnificence at the time he is interested in attracting the favorable attention of the female members of the herd.

Changing Eras in Japan

For centuries it was the practice in Japan to change the era every time something epoch-making happened, or when there occurred some earthquake, drought, pestilence or famine which needed to be quickly thrust out of the present into the past. The ruler who changed his era most was Godaigo, the ninety-sixth emperor. He was noted for his misfortunes. In his reign of 22 years (1318-1333 A. D.) he changed his year-name nine times. Emperor Meiji, ascending the throne in 1868, put a stop to this practice of frequently changing the year-name. He decreed that each emperor should use but one year-name, beginning and ending with his reign.

Chimes and Carillons

Chimes are produced on eight or ten bells usually with a range of only one octave that play only on the full notes. Carillons are played over two to four or five octaves, ascending the scale with sharps and flats by half tone notes. Twenty-three or more bells make a carillon. Few carillons in this country have more than 38 bells. The essential difference between chimes and carillons is the number of bells and the tonal range.

Man's Blindness

One of the strangest things in history has been the blindness of men to the real attitudes. A dirt heap immediately in front will shut an Alp from our view. One writhes in thinking of the way the great souls have been treated. Think of a sublime Mozart, with that immortal music in him, visiting a duchess who keeps him waiting in a cold room till his fingers are frozen, then commanding him to play, while she and her company loudly talk all the time! An archbishop takes this Mozart in his retinue and lets him dine with his cooks. When this genius dies he is put in a common grave, nobody knows where.

STUBBORN, PLUS

"Say, Mack! How's that new mule coming along that you bought?"
"Very stubborn. By the way, how is your wife?"
"Bout the same, Mack."

HIS LONG CHANCE

Wife—When I married you I thought you were a wise man!
Hubby—Well, you were the only one that did!

EASY ENOUGH

"Why don't you study your history, Jimmy?"
"That's one lesson I don't have to get, father."

"How is that?"
"History repeats itself, you know."

SIMPLE ENOUGH

Niece—Yes, Tom and I prefer the simple life—simple food and simple dress.
Old Aunt—And I suppose simple laziness is at the bottom of the whole thing.

PREPAREDNESS

Wife—Dick, the cook's away, and tonight I'm going to give you a dinner cooked entirely by myself.
Hubby—Fine, my dear! You don't mind if I invite my old friend, Doctor Smith?

SLAM! BANG!

"You were late in going home last night—did you escape the storm?"
"Ran into it right at the door—and got soaked!"

OLD TIGHTWAD

Mr. Brown—I never talk back to my wife.
Mrs. Jones—How disagreeable you must be at times.

STINGING WEIGHT

"It takes 5,000 bees to weigh a pound."
"You wouldn't say that if you had had one sting you."

Mail Franking Privilege Held by Adams for Life

John Adams, as a member of congress, was among the first to be accorded the mail franking privilege and this he retained as ambassador to the various courts of Europe, as Vice President under Washington, as President and afterward, by special act of congress, for life. Aside from Jefferson, recalls a writer in the New York Herald Tribune, no other President has had the privilege as long as Adams and, curiously, both died on the same day, July 4, 1826, exactly 50 years after both had signed the Declaration of Independence.

In the first election of 1789 Adams received the second highest number of electoral college votes and was declared Vice President. He accepted the office, albeit with a bit of chagrin as he did not relish being second, and, although he had great admiration for Washington, he felt that his own contribution to the cause of the infant republic had merited the greater reward.

In the vice presidency he served the two terms under Washington during the formation of the first political parties. The Federalists, led by Hamilton, believed in a strong central government, and the Democratic-Republicans, followers of Jefferson, in the supremacy of the states. Adams belonged to the former but begrudged Hamilton the leadership and as a consequence all but missed the presidency in the election of 1797.

Adams' term in the presidency was not happy. He was out of harmony with his party. The country came to the verge of war with France, which Adams' personal action evaded but at the expense of much of his prestige at home. Lastly the notorious alien and sedition laws which he had supported brought resolutions of disapproval from several of the states. He was defeated for re-election and in 1801 retired to his home in Quincy, never again to take part in public life.

City of Pittsburgh Was Named for William Pitt

In the tall, imposing figure of William Pitt, earl of Chatham, the American colonies had a distinguished champion in the British parliament in the period before the American Revolution.

Much of Britain's dominance of North America, writes Leslie Hartley in the Washington Star, was due to Pitt's efforts and in a series of expeditions against the French he had cultivated the loyal co-operation of the colonists.

When England began a program of taxation which these colonists regarded as unjust, Pitt championed their cause. He secured the repeal of the stamp act passed in 1765 and protested again when a tax was levied on tea, glass, paper and other articles.

As the quarrel deepened, Pitt, in 1775 introduced a bill in parliament which declared the supremacy of England over the colonists in all cases except taxation and he added: "You cannot conquer the colonists."

Though he was never willing to recognize American independence, he continued to plead for conciliation. America did not forget his friendship and among others, the city of Pittsburgh is named in his honor.

Tanager Not Friendly Bird

The tanager is not what one would call a friendly bird, like our robin or cardinal, and some of the experts even go so far as to call him stupid. The female of the species is such a plain bird that few persons would even suspect that they had any relationship to each other. This is the almost universal rule in nature. The males often are gaudy in coloration, whereas the females are very plain. The peacock and peahen are excellent examples; so are the male and female guppies, in the aquarium.

Marten Prized for Its Fur

With the build of a dachshund and the color of a red fox, the sleek marten is highly prized for its fur. So soft and rich looking is its pelt that it has been nicknamed the "American sable," says a writer in the Washington Post. Martens are shy, but for their size, are among the most bloodthirsty of all animals. They live in trees, kill rabbits, squirrels and other small game. Despite this, they make good house pets. Once tamed, they're death on rats and mice.

Charlie McCarthy Says: "Let 'er C."

Charlie McCarthy, in spite of college degree and national acclaim, is like other bright little boys when it comes to trains and locomotives. With an engineer's cap set jauntily on his head, he places his hand with customary aplomb on the throttle of the SUPER CHIEF to pilot it on his recent return to Hollywood.

Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen look pleasantly down from the cab of the Santa Fe's big Diesel as they wave to friends.

Parking at an angle to the curb has caused many difficulties from an accident prevention standpoint.

Whenever you park a car at an angle, be sure you park so that the cars on either side of you can get in and out of the parking location.

Whenever you back out, be sure you drive slowly. I have seen automobile drivers come out of an angle parking position next to the curb as though they were answering a fire call. No warning is received by the automobile driver who is traveling on the street, although he may be using every precaution.

The usual results of careless backing out of the angle parking lot are minor collisions, but serious accidents have resulted.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

How Your Vote Is Recorded

Contrary to popular opinion, the results of an election, for state senators and representatives; U. S. senators and representatives; and all officers elected by a district, are not known officially for at least twenty days after an election.

The board of county examiners must meet within three days after an election to canvass the votes in their respective counties. These results are sent to the board of state canvassers, which consists of the secretary of state, the state treasurer and the superintendent of public instruction. The board of state canvassers are required by statute to meet not later than twenty days after an election to canvass the returns from the eighty-three counties in Michigan.

In an event that the counties have not made their returns of the election, the state board of canvassers may adjourn for a later meeting, but the official canvass must be completed within forty days after the election.

While the efforts on the part of the press and radio station operators to bring to the people early returns of elections, is unofficial, it is nevertheless appreciated by the secretary of state, who unofficially, is as interested in reading the early unofficial returns as any other citizen.

Skulls for Illumination

The first torches were probably those of the early cave man who utilized skulls of animals as reservoirs for melted fat. Learning that a bullrush or hollow reed would stay ignited longer when fed from fat oils, he utilized the skull to promote this end. The first real lamps of course were hollowed-out stones.

Lent comes from the Anglo-Saxon word "leynite," meaning spring, which may have been derived from the Old English word "lang," since it is the period when the days lengthen.

"APPRECIATION DAY" NEARING

The Grayling Appreciation Day merchants, through the sponsorship of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce, announces the inauguration of their "Appreciation Day" plan within the next week or ten days.

Under a committee consisting of George Stanley, Chairman, Willard Harwood, Clarence Johnson, Esbern Olson, and Alfred Hanson, the plan is now being properly organized to provide an innovation in the way of interest and profit to the buying public.

A community chest has been created by the Appreciation Day merchants, which grows from week to week. The more you patronize these firms the larger the chest grows. Part of every dollar you spend with them goes into this fund. This plan will be the talk of the town—so watch for later announcements and full details at the identifying sign of the Appreciation Day merchant.

RANDOM THOTS

What a whale of a big vote Frank Fitzgerald got! He beat Toy right in his home city of Detroit and had a majority in the state greater than the latter's entire vote. Roscoe Conklin Fitch too was beaten in his home county of Charlevoix, where the latter received only 170 to Fitzgerald's 2278.

How many lives would be saved each Sunday in this country if people left their cars in the garage and went to church?

Believe it or not, but it is stated that there are twelve supposed active volcanoes in the United States, not including the Republican and Democratic parties.

A woman elected mayor of a town in Illinois reduced taxes 30 percent and paid off a $30,000 debt in two years. And then they talk about petticoat government.

Already the leaves of the trees have started to turn color. By next week they will be ablaze in color. If you want to see Northern Michigan in its gayest garb, spend a few days in Northern Michigan soon.

Autumn begins this year on Friday, September 23rd. The usual dates are the 21st and 22nd.

DUCK HUNTERS MUST HAVE DUCK STAMPS

Even a shortage of duck stamps at your favorite post office will not be accepted as a good excuse for not having one this duck hunting season, according to information received from the U. S. Biological survey by H. R. Sayre, chief of the field administration division of the department of conservation.

The duck stamps have been on sale since July 1 and any duck hunter found without one will be prosecuted. The federal authorities believe that hunters have been given ample opportunity to procure the stamps and should know the requirements since the duck stamp act will, with this season, have been in effect five years. In the past, shortages in the supply of stamps led to the issuance of receipts as accommodation to hunters, but this was done without authority and will not be repeated. Nor is it likely that post offices will remain open as a favor to persons who wait until the last minute to get their stamps.

SCHOOL NEWS

With the Physical Education department having the services of Mr. Cornell as full time instructor, a comprehensive program is being planned to include as many students as possible.

The fall program swings into action along two lines: Junior and Senior high school boys have been divided into two groups and a regular schedule of football will be played among the groups. While called football, the rules have been changed so as to exclude the rough body contact thus practically eliminating serious injuries.

The boys of the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades have an activity program which runs from 3:45 to 4:00 p. m. twice a week. Later a similar program will be instituted for the girls. This is, of course, in addition to the regularly scheduled gym work which includes practically all students in school.

Grayling schools have a 6% increase in enrollment this year as represented by 35 new pupils. Most of the increase seems to be in the upper six grades as it has been found necessary to add 29 new seats to the assembly. The latest figures show a total enrollment of 639 students, of which 270 are in the upper six grades.

An organization has been set up, with Miss Hane as sponsor, to start work on the school paper "Green and White" which is to be issued every two weeks.

In preparation for hot lunches which will start later in the school year, the Home Ec. department has been doing some canning. Latest figures show that three bushels of tomatoes have been prepared in this way which will no doubt be a big help to the Hot Lunch Club.

The N. Y. A. organization which has been instrumental in helping many students secure work in the past, is functioning again this year. Nine students are working on this project and their work ranges from helping Mr. Goss keep the school "slicked up" to the exacting job of private secretary.

Boys and Girls! Don't fail to read "My Michigan" a picture-story of the State's history from the time of the Ice Age to the present time. It is now appearing daily on the Comic Pages of The Detroit News.

TEN THOUSAND EYES SCAN WORLD FOR PHOTOS FOR POPULAR MECHANICS

After looking at the hundreds of pictures and articles appearing in each issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine, now being offered in combination with this newspaper at a money-saving bargain, most readers ask the same question.

"Where," they inquire, "does this magazine get all the new inventions, scientific and mechanical developments, handy kinks, money-making ideas and practical construction plans they print?"

The editors of this thirty-six-year-old book, which is virtually a month-by-month record of human progress, give an amazing answer. Ten thousand eyes, they explain, scan the world for the pictures and articles appearing each month. More than 5,000 contributors, at home and abroad, help supply the 6,000 illustrations and 3,000 articles which go into twelve issues of Popular Mechanics.

There's hardly a city or town in the country without at least one occasional contributor. Many are readers with a friendly interest in the book, others may be newspaper reporters, photographers or "free lance" writers. Each is on the alert and when some local man develops a labor-saving or money-making idea, or when some new invention goes on the market, the contributor is quick to obtain pictures and full details. That's one reason why everything in the magazine is so new that it is unlikely you have ever seen the things pictured and described or anything like them.

Hundreds of manufacturers and industrial concerns also supply the magazine with photographs and descriptions of new products as soon as they are developed, men of science interpret their achievements in everyday language, picture agencies offer thousands of photographs, and home craftsmen and shop workers submit a steady flow of new ideas.

The twenty or more feature articles in each issue are prepared and illustrated by staff writers, photographers and artists or by independent authors and cameramen, but these features constitute a relatively small percentage of the magazine. The bulk of the book, the multitude of new ideas, new inventions and new products, comes from the thousands of occasional contributors. There is scarcely anyone who does not occasionally develop or come across a brand new idea which he finds of value to himself and which he believes would interest many others. Perhaps you yourself have had this experience. If your idea is new and likely to be of general interest to many people, you may be able to share it with thousands—and get paid for your trouble besides—by appointing yourself a contributor to this magazine which thrives on new ideas.

"A flapper's chauffeur needn't use his head—she only expects him to use his arms and neck."
